No way they would do this unless we paid a huge number.

Still significant. The bigger the boxing event the higher the crossover %.

AT&T u-Verse was the first to respond to our data request. In their opinion, Boxing, at least in this instance, is a non-factor. They found that of the HHs that bought the latest Mayweather fight, only 9.4% purchased a UFC event in the UFC 154 – present window. This indicates a much lower crossover among their subscribers than the latest Crop research shows. Of this group, only 2.3% purchased UFC 160. So I guess you could say that the event did negatively impact possible buyers by 75%, but that pool of possible buyers was extremely small to begin with.

Verizon is looking into this information, as are DirecTV and DISH Network.
